

Picasso

The Code For the 21st Century Knight

I swear loyalty and all the power of protection at my disposal to my family, loved ones and any other worthy soul. I promise to do everything possible to help the helpless and rescue those I can. I further swear to hold tightly onto love and faith when challenged by the despair of human failings – my own or others.

I seek excellence in all endeavors, the strength to complete all worthy causes, and the divine help to right all wrongs. I value the contributions of others above my own and don't boast about my accomplishments.

As knights of Don Q's court, I have the wisdom to know that craziness and courage are cousins. I do not confine my hopes to the small world in front of me, but do all things, however small, with the impossible dream of infinite love and blessings for all in mind.

I recognize that the sword of justice needs to remain sheathed so mercy can work its magic. I further recognize my enemies as potential loved ones, and seek to incorporate nobility, bravery and love into every aspect of my life, never seeking rewards but always knowing they are at hand.